Bethel selectmen cede grass strips

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has accepted a compromise plan for the widening of lower Main Street. The plan calls for leaving a 10-foot wide grass strip along the west side of the road from Dr. Lennie Shaw's to Railroad Street.

The board has also signed off on a plan for town's Historic District that will leave in place the grass strip between the sidewalk and Broad Street from Hammons House to Paradise Road.

The lower Main Street strip will replace the six paved parking spaces the selectmen originally planned to place along the road. Additional parking places planned for the west side above Dr. Shaw's and for the opposite side of the road will not be affected by the compromise.

The board's decision to accept the compromise plan came at a meeting Friday afternoon. With selectmen Arlan Jodrey and Art Gilbert reversing their earlier opposition, the board voted 4-1 to accept the compromise.

Only selectman Henry Dombkowski held out for the board's original plan, which called for two-side parking all the way from Vernon Street to Railroad Street.

"This is a temporary solution," Dombkowski said heatedly following the vote. "All we're doing is saving that grassy strip, which doesn't amount to a hill of beans."

(The most significant difference between the compromise plan and the selectmen's original plan is the grass strip, but the compromise also calls for taking additional steps to protect the trees along lower Main Street.)

The compromise had been suggested by an ad hoc committee set up by the board in response to a petition, signed by 247 residents, calling for the selectmen to scale back their plans for lower Main Street in order to conserve the character of the neighborhood.

Reluctantly agreeing

Selectmen Jodrey and Gilbert had initially indicated they would oppose the compromise, but on Friday--with opponents of the widening threatening to take the issue to a special Town Meeting--the two selectmen reversed their positions.

But they remained almost as unenthusiastic about the plan as was Dombkowski.

"I know it's not the right decision," Jodrey said, "and I'll be surprised if it doesn't come back to haunt us."

Gilbert agreed, but characterized the new plan as "a compromise we can live with for the time being--to keep things from being dragged on."

Opponents still worried

And for their part, opponents of the widening were hardly gloating.

At Friday's meeting, committee member Dick Taylor acknowledged that widening opponents have accepted some trees will inevitably have to come down. "I think we've all been enlightened on the tree issue," he said.

But he said later he was still very concerned about the damage that will be done to the remaining trees when the utility poles are moved inward to the (outside) edge of the proposed sidewalk--and some trees must be trimmed to clear the way for the shifted lines.

"I left the meeting feeling pretty good," he said the following day, "but I'm having some serious second thoughts."

Taylor also expressed skepticism about another aspect of the compromise plan--the installation of an asphalt curb between the grass strip and the roadway.

The rest of Main Street will have granite curbing between the sidewalk and the paved parking strip, but the granite curb from Dr. Shaw's office to Railroad Street will run between the sidewalk and the grass strip, and it will be sunken into the ground with only its top showing.

SEEKING COMPROMISE--Lynn Mason, Dick Taylor and Don Brown, members of the ad hoc Inflow and Infiltration Advisory Committee, listen attentively as selectman Norm Putnam reviews the details of compromise plan for lower Main Street reconstruction. Putnam later joined fellow selectmen Art Gilbert, Arlan Jodrey and John Thurston in approving the compromise plan. Only selectman Henry Dombkowski held out for the board's original plan, which called for two-side parking on Main Street from Vernon to Railroad streets. (Photos by Michael Daniels)

Davis Park playground scratched

Federal disability regulations have forced Bethel to cut back on its plans for Davis Park.

The park, being established on the 1.5 acre riverfront parcel donated to the town earlier this year by Danny Davis, was to have included both picnic facilities and a playground.

Much of the work was to have been financed with $17,000 the town received from a Jobs Bond grant. But the terms of the grant required the town to contribute an equal amount from its own pocket.

Most of the town's contribution was to have been in credits for the value of the land, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley, but when the final assessment on the parcel came in it was for only $8,500--or roughly $4,000 less than the town had hoped for.

Since any municipal construction must now meet the standards of the federal Americans with Disabilities Act, Henley said, a playground at the Davis site would have to be built with a special surface to accommodate wheelchairs--which is now beyond the town's means.

The town will go ahead with plans to build four covered picnic tables and cooking grills at the site, as well as a fence along the river, and to do some limited landscaping, she said.

Plans for the Davis site are to be presented to the town planning board at its regular meeting tonight, at 7 p.m. in the town office conference room.

Ripped up woods roads on public lands hamper efforts to reach injured hiker

By WENDY HANSCOM

Bethel Rescue, the Newry Fire Department and a Newry Hurricane Island Outward Bound rescue group spent Monday night hiking to the aid of an injured Connecticut hiker in Mahosuc Notch.

Efforts to reach the injured hiker were hampered by torn up culverts on Maine Public Land, which forced local rescuers to hike rather than ride an additional three miles to the scene.

Darren Cain, 16, of Danbury, Conn. was hiking on the Appalachian Trail with an Outward Bound group when he tripped and fell down a ledge, according to Paul Fornier spokesman for the Maine

Fish and Wildlife Department.

"He was hiking with an Outward Bound group when he tripped on a root or stump and fell down a steep area," Fornier said. "I've been told he hit once about ten feet down and hit again at 20 feet and got caught in the crevasse of a ledge."

Cain was listed in satisfactory condition Tuesday afternoon, according to Donna Croteau, Androscoggin Valley Hospital administrative secretary. He was treated for multiple soft tissue wounds and a head injury, Croteau said, and was expected to be released late Tuesday afternoon.

Fornier said rescuers were notified of the accident at 10 p.m. Monday night and were on the way by 10:30 p.m.

The accident occurred at around 6 p.m. Monday evening. A member of Cain's group caught up with another group of hikers seen headed out of the area earlier and asked them to report the accident, according to Newry Fire Chief Virgil "Tink" Konkright.

Konkright said rescuers, guided to the scene by relayed radio transmissions from the hiking group, arrived at the scene about 3 a.m.

The youth had fallen off the Appalachian Trail on the west side of Speck near Goose Eye, Konkright said.

Bethel Rescue member Arlene

Greenleaf said the youth had been made more comfortable by the time rescuers arrived. "We brought in a cervical collar and immobilized his neck," Greenleaf said, "and decided the best way to get him down was by helicopter. Then we had to wait until the helicopter got there."

Cain was picked up by helicopter at 7 a.m. Tuesday morning and flown to the Berlin Airport in Milan, Fornier said. From there he was taken by ambulance to the Androscoggin Valley Hospital.

Fornier said Game Warden Richard Mills headed the rescue group.

MOTHER GOOSE'S MERRY MARCHERS--Participants in the Sudbury-Canada Days children's parade check out each others' costumes prior to setting off on their March across the grounds of the Moses Mason House. These characters included George, Henry and Fred Gehrling, Jamie Grover, Kate Nickerson and Stephen Courage. In keeping with a well established Sudbury-Canada Day tradition, it rained on Sunday--as it has sometime on the weekend for all 11 years the Bethel Historical Society has put on the event. But Saturday was bright and sunny, and a splendid day to enjoy the art and flower shows, craft exhibits, farming and logging exhibits, games, tournaments and other traditional activities.

Central European environmentalists visit

Seven environmental professionals representing non-governmental organizations (NGOs) in Hungary, Poland and Czechoslovakia are visiting Bethel this week as part of a six-week fellowship program by the Atlantic Center for the Environment in Ipswich, Mass.

The program is designed to help the participants strengthen their organizations in the areas of river conservation, land stewardship, advocacy and environmental education.

While in Bethel, the participants will meet with a number of organizations and businesses for a case study on balancing resource use and conservation in a rural community. Through discussions with representatives of Sunday River Ski Resort, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., Friends of the Androscoggin, and the Mahosuc Land Trust, among others, the participants will examine issues of forest management, tourism development, water and land resource conservation, and private-landowner rights.

On Friday, the group will give presentation on their own work experiences and their observations of the Bethel area. The presentations, which will begin at 10:30, will be held at the Sunday River Inn and are open to the public.

The Bethel case study culminates a six-week fellowship program which includes a seminar, study-tour, and individual project assignments in New England and northern New York State. Through round-table discussions and field visits, participants are meeting with their New England counterparts to discuss key environmental problems, approaches to conservation, and management of non-profit organizations.

The 1992 Fellowship participants, selected through a competitive application process, represent a range of conservation NGOs in their home countries. They are:

Szilyia Cserep, Field Studies Council, Budapest, Hungary.

Andras Fernengel, Torokbalint Natural History Group, Hungary.

Istvan Gyarmathy, Hortobagy National Park, Hungary.

Alexander Harna, Ipel River Monitoring Project, Sahy, Czechoslovakia.

Marek Maciejewski, Coalition Clean Baltic, Gdansk, Poland.

Jitka Pellantova, Czech Union of Nature Conservation, Brno, Czechoslovakia.

Magdalena Szulc, Pro Natura, Wroclaw, Poland.

As the number of NGOs concerned with the environmental in Central and Eastern Europe continues to grow, these groups are

Overflight impact statement issued

The Air National Guard has issued a final environmental impact statement (EIS) on its plans to change the configuration of military flight-training space in the Northeast.

The eight-volume, 20-pound-plus EIS includes the changes outlined last month in a letter to the Maine Congressional delegation from Lt. Gen. John B. Conaway, chief of the National Guard Bureau.

For Maine, the most significant changes from the Guard's original proposal include reducing the number of low-level flights over the region and eliminating the proposed Condor Military Operations Area in the northern part of the state.

In a joint release, the Congressional delegation commended the changes but went on: "We continue to believe that the proposal for low-level flights (in western Maine) will have a severe negative impact on the region's environmental and natural beauty by seriously increasing the noise levels and impairing the quality of life of those who live under the proposed flight areas."

"Therefore, we intend to pursue this matter further with the Air National Guard and hope that a satisfactory resolution of the matter can be achieved."

(Note: a copy of the final EIS is available for review in The Citizen office. The newspaper's July 22 edition looks at the changes and the local overflight situation in more detail. Copies of that edition are also available in the office.)

Opinions

"We can't be dictators."

The Bethel Board of Selectmen is to be commended for its willingness to accept, if reluctantly, compromise on the matter of widening lower Main Street.

Friday's agreement was clearly not a feel-good deal on either side. Opponents of the widening won a major concession, but they remain uneasy and apprehensive about what the lower end of town will look like when the summer's work is completed. And the selectmen feel they have been pressured into a decision that is not in the town's best interest.

But in the end the selectmen bowed to political reality and opted to compromise rather than risk facing a hostile town meeting—where who-knows-what harm could be done to the town's I&I project, including the final phase at the other end of Main Street.

It is impossible to tell if the petition on lower Main Street represented the feelings of a majority of residents in town, or merely the momentary enthusiasm of 247 signers. (Cynics will argue that you could probably get 247 signatures for plowing under Main Street and sowing it length and breadth with grass—or even for putting a pig-in-a-poke Texas billionaire on the presidential ballot).

But clearly there was serious opposition to the original widening plan, and the selectmen would have been foolhardy to ignore it.

Come fall, we will all be able to judge the final result of compromise for ourselves.

The grass strip may prove an elegant solution to the conflicting demands of aesthetics, commerce and municipal plumbing. Or it may turn out that this exercise in engineering-by-committee-and-consensus will leave Bethel with a bright, shiny new Edsel on lower Main Street. (The proposed asphalt curb is sure to stand out like the Edsel's Oldsmobile-sucking-a-lemon grill.)

Fortunately, in this case at least, what's done can be undone. If the parking turns out to be needed, or if the grass and asphalt clash too harshly with the appearance of the rest of the street, then they can be replaced with parking places—as was originally planned.

It will cost more to do it later, but perhaps that's just part of the price we pay for living in a democratic community. "After all," said selectmen Arlan Jodrey following Friday's meeting, "we can't be dictators."

Letters to the Editor:

SPARE THOSE TREES

To the Editor:

Don't do it. Cutting down trees to widen lower Main Street would be a huge and irreversible mistake. Bethel's economic future depends on maintaining its charm, not destroying it in an attempt to solve a non-existent problem.

Ten years ago when I wrote the Economic Plan put out by the Greater Portland Chamber of Commerce, all our interviews and studies indicated that the number one attribute that people moving to the area, businesses wishing to relocate, or tourists sought was "quality of life—i.e. character." The key to the future of the Old Port area was its charm, not its parking. No streets were widened. The area retained its character and has thrived.

Bethel has character and will resume economic growth when the general economy picks up. The combination of Sunday River's growth and NTL's decision to stay bodes well. To cut down trees and widen the road at the town's entrance will make the town look like thousands of other towns.

People come and stay in Bethel because of its charm, not because of great parking. And those of us who live here now, even if it's only part of the year, feel the town is very special because of the beautiful homes and old trees. Don't change that for a few more yards of blacktop. There's nothing special about that.

DON'T CHASE DUCKLINGS

To the Editor:

What can anyone do to prevent grown people from chasing ducks, with their ducklings, at Songo Pond? These people seem to get a kick out of these little ones who can't fly, but "run" for their lives. We have four species of ducks, all are unable to fly, yet.

My area is a wildlife refuge, with many other kinds of birds, which I dare not mention because of illegal hunting.

Our taxes should bring us a game warden who will enforce the laws of an unorganized territory.

These people are out of state residents, but not all.

REC BOARD SAYS THANKS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Board of Recreation would like to express its sincere thanks to the many folks that have made this baseball/softball season fun, exciting and rewarding.

Thank you to our board member, Chris Olson for the many hours he devoted to organizing the placement days, distributing equipment, answering questions and coaching two teams. Thanks to SAD #44 and Gould Academy for allowing us to use their fields.

In particular a special thanks to the many coaches who devoted long hours to practices and games. Their skills and patience were evident throughout the season. Thanks to the many parents and friends who were willing to help out as base coaches, and supported the children on the side lines. Also thanks to our local team sponsors: The Bethel Area Health Center, the Bethel Savings Bank, Groan and McGurn, The I.G.A., Key Bank, Mahoosuc Realty and Sunday River Ski Area. And last but not least to all the children who made up these teams. You did a "Great Job!"

We look forward to next season.

GOING, GOING—A Victorian writing desk, a massive Gravely brush mower and snow thrower, a two person rowing shell, a computer course, a swamp monster and, held overhead here, a venerable rocking chair were just a few of the goodies that found new owners Saturday at a benefit auction for the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. The auction raised over $4,000 for the school's general fund, according to executive director Buzz Gamble.

Bill protects diversity of our native wildlife

Everyone in Maine is familiar with the state's majestic forests, lakes, rivers and streams. Mainers all across the state also enjoy the unique variety of wildlife that those resources support. I am pleased that a Senate Committee recently held a hearing to review the Partnerships for Wildlife Act, a bill I introduced to protect America's diverse native wildlife.

At this hearing, Mr. Leon Gorman, president of L.L. Bean, testified in favor of the bill. In his remarks before the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, of which I am a member, Mr. Gorman praised the bill's effort to stem the decline in the nation's fish and wildlife species and increase opportunities for public enjoyment of these resources.

Testimony at this hearing underscored the fact that the Partnership for Wildlife Act is supported by people in Maine and around the country. It is also supported by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The Partnerships for Wildlife Act is designed to encourage coordinated efforts by federal, state and private entities to carry out projects that would benefit all species of fish and wildlife, particularly species not protected under the Endangered Species Act nor managed by federal and state agencies. These species include songbirds, hawks, owls, frogs and turtles.

Over 275 fish and wildlife species in the United States are now classified as threatened or endangered. Many, if not all, of them would have escaped this status if there had been programs in place to monitor and conserve them.

Inadequate attention to the full diversity of our wildlife will inevitably lead to population declines among other species until they reach dangerously low levels where they, too, must be protected by the Endangered Species Act. At that point, the task of rebuilding a species' numbers is likely to be far less successful and far more costly.

That is why I introduced the Partnerships for Wildlife Act. It will encourage needed wildlife research, management, conservation and appreciation projects through development of federal-state-private partnerships.

There's still too much Defense Dept. waste

Thomas Jefferson once wrote that the "same prudence which in private life would forbid our paying our own money for unexplained projects, forbids it in the dispensation of the public moneys."

Were he alive today, Jefferson would find the incidents of waste in our government deplorable. As the nation grapples with the spiraling budget deficit, federal agencies must do more to crack down on waste, fraud and abuse in their programs.

One area ripe for reform, documented recently by a General Accounting Office (GAO) investigation, is defense contracting, which the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee on which I serve recently examined in the second of a series of hearings.

The GAO found that Department of Defense contractors overpriced their contracts by more than $730 million last year. Between 1987 and 1991, defectively priced contracts cost the taxpayers nearly $3.7 billion.

When negotiating contracts with the government, the law requires firms to submit accurate information that supports their estimate of how much it will cost to complete a project. The Pentagon then uses that information to negotiate a price that includes a fair profit for the contractor.

Defective contract pricing can occur when contractors, intentionally or through mismanagement, provide the DOD with inaccurate or incomplete data, which results in inflated contract prices. The taxpayers also can be cheated when, once the government is locked into a contract, contractors and subcontractors try to reduce their costs to increase their profits.

Not all, or even most, contractors are seeking to cheat the government or the taxpayers. The majority of DOD contractors are honest

FROM THE

Bethel Town Office

I would like to publicly thank Carol Nielsen of the Garden Club for this week's effort beyond the call of duty with the traffic island at the top of Main Street. Often, things do not go as smoothly as one hopes, she proved herself a wonderfully good sport by dealing calmly with one of those situations.

The Jobs Bond grant projects are moving forward rather quickly. Davis Park has gone out to bid. The site work for the transfer station is slated to be out to bid this week. The special Town Meeting for the funding of the Phase III Project has been scheduled for Aug. 17, and the Warrant for that meeting is posted in the window of the town office.

Due to an overly optimistic estimate of the value of the land donation, we have unfortunately had to reduce the scope of the Davis Park Project. Since we do not have enough money to provide a playground which will meet the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act we have decided to build only the picnic area at this time.

The plans now call for four covered picnic tables, with cooking grills, a fence along the river, and a sign. Grading, loaming and seeding will also be done. My hope is that the playground can be added at some future point, perhaps using another sort of community projects grant program and volunteer labor. I would like to thank Henry Dombkowski and Claire Carver for

Town Meeting Monday

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has scheduled a special Town Meeting for Monday, Aug. 17, to seek voter approval of the financing package for the final phase of the Downtown Revitalization Project.

The selectmen are proposing that the town borrow up to $400,000 to cover its share of the $1.2 million project. The balance of the funding is to come from a recently approved Jobs Bond grant ($355,500), from the Maine Department of Transportation ($215,000) and from a grant from the Farmers Home Administration.

While the selectmen are seeking authority to borrow $400,000, part of that amount would be used only as bridge financing until funds become available from MDOT and FmHA.

Town Manager Madeleine Henley has estimated that the final amount of town borrowing for the project will be between $252,000 and $315,000, depending on the loan-grant ratio Bethel receives from FmHA.

Monday's meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the lecture hall of Telstar Regional High School.

GORDON'S TIRE TRAILER COLLAPSES ON ROUTE 35

A Gordon's Tire trailer loaded with used tires buckled and collapsed Monday on Route 35 in North Waterford.

Truck driver James Sweetser of Gilead was uninjured.

Oxford County Sheriff's Cpl. Gary Hill said structural damage may have caused the accident. Police were on the scene from about 3:15 to 9 p.m., while the tires were removed from the trailer. The trailer was then dismantled at the scene.

Police issued tractor-trailer owner Peter Gordon of Greenwood a summons for failing to have the vehicle inspected.

Gordon is also due for another state inspection. Aug. 1 was the deadline for Gordon Tire's to meet a number of Department of Environmental Protection requirements at its Greenwood used tire storage site.

The DEP has not yet reinspected the facility but DEP Environmental Specialist Michael Parker said he plans to make an inspection within the next two weeks.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Richard Fraser of East Poland was the featured speaker at the August monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House.

Mr. Fraser and his wife, Nancy, compiled a book on Maine made automobiles, which appeared last year. During his presentation, Mr. Fraser described through slides of automobiles Maine's role in auto making, which dates back to 1834. The state possesses a rich legacy, according to Fraser, who had discovered several more Maine manufacturers since the appearance of the book.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Jane Hosterman announced that the "Gift of the Month" was from Sally Taylor of Bethel and included two books once owned by her father. They were written by a former Bethel resident Bob Nichols, who was a well-known firearms expert. "Skeet and How to Shoot It" was published in 1939 by G.P. Putnam's Sons of New York; "The Shotgunner," also published by Putnam, appeared in 1949. Mrs. Hosterman thanked Mrs. Taylor for these fine additions to the Society's collections.

The president also reminded those present about the first Hall Lecture as the beginning event of Sudbury Canada Days on Friday night, Aug. 7. She also announced that the Middle Intervale Meeting House Society would have a quilt show on Aug. 22.

As the next meeting is the annual one, a nominating committee was elected to report a slate of officers and two trustees for the Sept. 3 meeting. Also announced at that meeting will be the 1992 winner of the Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award. Mrs. Hosterman reported that Nathan Hamilton of the University of Southern Maine will be the featured speaker at the 27th annual meeting; his topic will be "Prehistory of the Androscoggin River." Refreshments were served following the program to the approximately 60 attending.

Fraser also reminded those present of the first Hall Lecture given on Friday night, Aug. 10, when the Middle Meeting House Society presented a quilt show on Aug. 22. The next meeting is the annual meeting of the committee was to report a slate of officers for the Sept. 3 meeting. Also announced at that time was the 1992 winner of the MacArthur Noll Service Award. Mrs. J. MacArthur Noll reported that Nathan of the University of Maine will be the featured speaker at the 27th annual meeting; he will be "Prehistory of the Maine River." Refreshments will be served following the program.

Approximately 60 attending.

School board says it wants the public more involved in budgeting

By WENDY HANSCOM

SAD #44 school board directors are searching for ways to involve the public in the annual budget building process.

In response to complaints that the public has little input in the budget process, the directors Monday evening "brainstormed" several ways to get district voters more involved.

The directors stopped short, however, of proposing public involvement in salary negotiations. At the annual budget meeting in May, several voters complained bitterly that district taxpayers could not afford this year's raises for teachers and administrators—and that there seemed no way to stop the increases.

Newly director Alison Aloisio Monday called for general open discussion of compensation issues before any negotiations begin. The district's agreement with the Telstar Educators Association, however, forbids any public disclosure of the salary negotiation process by either side.

By getting more residents involved earlier in the process, the directors said, they hope to avoid facing angry voters at the annual budget hearing.

Greenwood director Ray Harrington stood on his chair to proclaim that simplifying the budget language would help voters decipher the complicated process.

"We've got to make it so people understand what's being presented," Harrington said.

Among the suggestions offered were:

--A letter writing campaign to town officials, community groups and those identified as "negative constituents," outlining the budget process and time-line.

--Increased public marketing of the budget, including: a phonathon, mass mailing and radio, public access cable Channel IV and newspaper advertisements.

--Early clarification of budget steps.

--A glossary of terms included in the budget package presented to board members and voters.

--More preliminary budget hearings with budget workshops in each member town.

--A budget informational package that would include: detailed back-up information for each request, a comparison to the previous year's budget and a yearly program justification.

--That board members should be thoroughly knowledgeable about the budget, "with emphasis on a district-wide mentality."

--That the school board should decide how much time and money to spend on preparing and presenting the budget.

The board's next move will be discussion of how to implement the suggestions, according to Superintendent Dewaine Craig.

No smoking on school property

In other business Monday night, the board unanimously approved the first reading of this year's policy revisions—which includes a provision to eliminate smoking on all district property.

The policy proposal would ban smoking on any SAD #44 property including school grounds, the bus garage or buses.

MAINE KIMBALLS REUNION

Maine descendants of Richard Kimball (Ipswich, Mass.) will gather at the Dr. Moses Mason House for their 10th annual Maine Reunion on Aug. 30. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. A business meeting and program will start at 1:30 p.m.

Refreshments are offered throughout the day, starting at registration. Those who wish to bring picnic lunches may enjoy them either on the lawn or inside. There are also nearby eating places. Children are welcome.

All attending are asked to bring (if they have not previously done so) a 3X5 card bearing name, address, and line of descent from Kimball ancestor. Genealogical help will also be offered. It is expected national co-chairman of genealogy for Kimball Association, George H. Kimball, of Kittery, will be present.

Cards bearing anecdotes about ancestors will be used during the program and pictures of people and Kimball places will be welcomed for exhibition.

As usual, prizes for oldest attending, youngest, and from furthest away, will be given, as will a door prize. All attending are asked to bring a good inexpensive new or used item to be auctioned. Proceeds cover the expense of reunion.

Stanley Howe, director of the Bethel Historical Society and museum will conduct the business meeting and again Albert Kimball of Warwick, Mass., will be master of ceremonies for the program.

For information telephone Mrs. Elizabeth Mason Carter, 207-836-2343 or write P.O. Box 44, West Bethel, Me., 04286 or call Stanley R. Howe at 207-824-2908.

Adults are now allowed to smoke in designated outside smoking areas throughout the district.

Students have not been allowed to smoke on school grounds for several years, according to Craig, and are forbidden to bring tobacco products onto school grounds.

CPS meeting, vote set

The board also approved Sept. 9 as the public hearing date for the proposed expansion of the Crescent Park School.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Helen Berry auditorium.

The board set Sept. 22 for the district-wide referendum on the project. Polling will be conducted in each of the five SAD #44-member towns.

Craig also announced that at the next buildings and grounds committee meeting, the Telstar Athletic Boosters Club will propose construction of dugouts for the varsity baseball and softball fields.

The above ground cinderblock and steel dugouts would be paid for through donations, Craig said.

The committee meeting is scheduled for Aug. 27 in the superintendent's office.

The board made three personnel appointments Monday: Toni Robertson, computer systems operator; Claire Carver, Telstar math/computer teacher and Valerie Hamlin, Telstar librarian/media specialist.

This week at NTL:

NTL Institute's ninth week of summer programs is human resource development continues with two new programs that started on Monday. A workshop called "Holding On and Letting Go" is being held at the NTL Conference House, and "Facilitating and Managing Complex System Change" meets at the Bethel Inn Conference Center. The Monday orientation session was again led by Eva Schindler-Rainman, now in her fourth week as overall dean, and John Shorb welcomed the new arrivals on behalf of the town and the Bethel Area Task Force.

The present NTL learning community is a smaller group than in earlier weeks. However, there is a large proportion of foreign participants in relation to the total population of about 65 participants and staff. Representatives are here from England, Germany, Switzerland and Australia, as well as the usual large contingent from Canada. Participants also come from 18 states.

In addition, NTL is hosting four people from Russia: one is a psychologist from a training institute in St. Petersburg, and she is a full participant in the Complex System Change workshop. The other three are students who are continuing in their second week at NTL-Bethel as part of an extended tour of the United States. The Bethel Area Task Force found homes for the students in their first week in Bethel and have been helpful in arranging dinner invitations.

NTL's informal Sunrise Seminars, presented at the Bethel Inn Conference Center from 7:15-8 a.m. and open to all in the Bethel community, will continue this week. On Wednesday, Edie and Charlie Seashore discussed the subject of their new book, "What Did You Say? The Art of Giving and Receiving Feedback."

The presenters and topics of the Sunrise Seminars for the remainder of the week are: Thursday--Ken and Gwyneth Bohr and others from the Bethel Area Task Force, "Bethel Community Opportunities: Your Ideas and Ours;" Friday--a presentation by the three Russian students; Saturday--to be announced; Sunday--Donald Coverdale and others will participate in a workshop experience, to be held in the NTL In-Tent at 7:15 a.m. It should be noted that this is the final week of Sunrise Seminar presentation for the NTL season.

In addition to the Sunrise Seminars this week, there will be an authors book-signing event on Friday from 12:30-1:30 p.m. at the NTL Resource Center. NTL authors here this week whose works are represented in the Resource Center include Bob Hanna, Jane Moosbrucker, Eva Schindler-Rainman, and Edie and Charlie Seashore.

Further information is available from the NTL office at 824-2151 about all of these events.

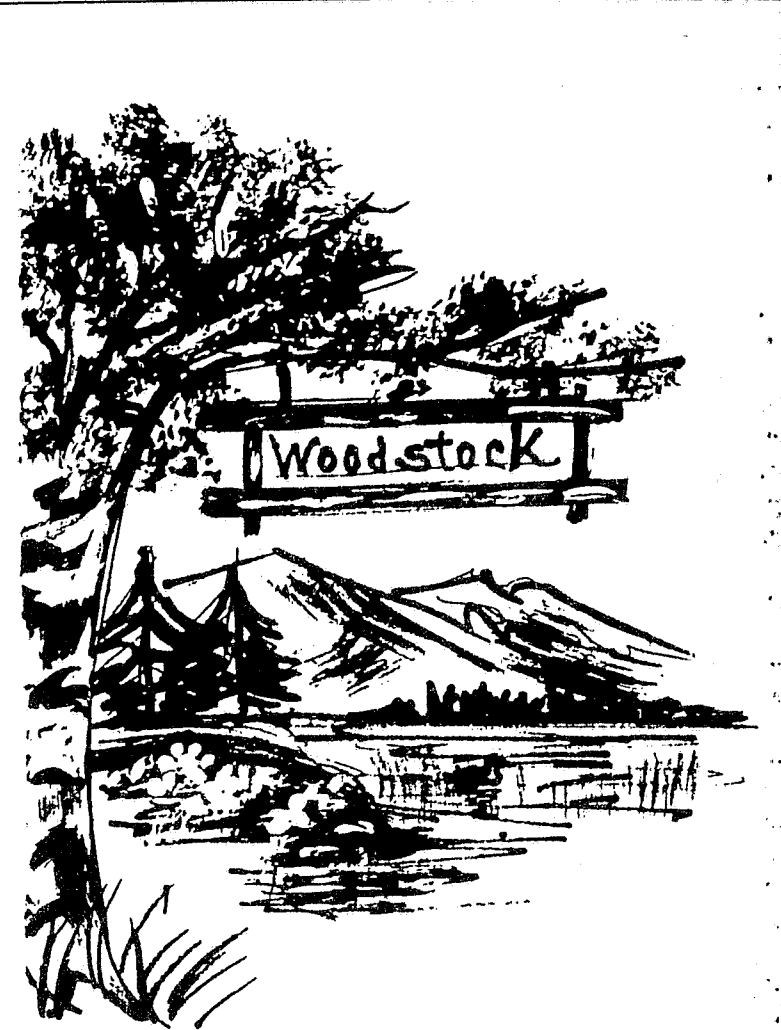

RUSSIAN MANAGERS STUDY AT NTL--Igor Senatsky, Natasha Makarova and Max Vladimirov are spending two weeks learning about NTL and exploring the Bethel area. The group has been staying at the Bingham House and in local homes. They went shopping in North Conway last week, where they got a close up look at an hour-long traffic jam. They have also toured Boise-Cascade. The students attend the Moscow State Academy of Management. They are studying international economic relations at the Russian academy. Their tour is being sponsored by a U.S. consulting firm. The students will hold a NTL sunrise seminar at the Bethel Inn conference center on Friday at 7:15 a.m.

WOODSTOCK LOGO WINNER--Woodstock selectmen picked Nadja Bollo's design as the town's new logo. Her drawing, above, was picked out of eight entries in Woodstock's logo contest. "It just kind of jumped out at us," said Town Manager Vern Maxfield, who presented Bollo with the $100 prize last week. The new logo will be used on town stationery.

Grass strip

The idea is that the granite curbing will already be in place (and paid for) if the town eventually decides to tear out the grass strip and put in paved parking.

But while Taylor and the other members of the ad hoc committee agreed Friday to the plan, he later worried about the appearance of the compromise solution. "The asphalt will look like a patch job," he said. "Why not (put in granite) and make it as attractive as possible?"

Broad St. strip also stays

The lower Main Street strip wasn't the only grass spared Friday.

Following a tour of Broad and Church streets, Mill Hill Road and the town common, the selectmen finalized their plans for Phase Three (formerly phases four and five) of the project.

In order to save money for more extensive work on the Mill Hill extension (the road in front of the Bethel Inn), on Church Street and on the common, the selectmen decided to limit the Broad Street storm drain and sewer line work to the first 600 feet of the street.

A preliminary version of the plan had called for replacing the lines all the way to Paradise Road, and for eliminating the grass strip that runs between the sidewalk and the road on the south end of the road.

But the plan approved Friday calls for ending the work almost exactly where the grass strip begins—which spares the selectmen another battle with residents intent on protecting their neighborhood greenery.

(The point where the work is now scheduled to stop is the final point at which the town is bound by its consent agreement with the state Department of Environmental Protection to replace its storm and sewer lines.)

Other features of the plan approved Friday call for setting curbing around the entire perimeter of the common, for shaving one to three feet from the south end of the common and adding up to 12 feet to the north end. The reshaping will have the effect of widening the relatively narrow roadway between the Bethel Inn and Broad Street, while narrowing the wide roadway at the other end of the common.

On Church Street, a parking lane will be added on the west side of the road between Mill Hill Road and Park Street.

Phase Three work will not involve taking down or significantly trimming any trees, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

From the Bethel Police log:

Police aid pooped paddlers; investigate vandalism and burglary

Last Wednesday, Robert Blake reported that a house on Paradise Road had been broken into. Police reported that a barn door had been pried open with a crowbar. Someone had gone through the house, the report said, but the only items missing were tools from the barn.

Police also received a report from Dennis Wilson that someone had broken the windshield of a piece of construction equipment parked in West Bethel. Police estimated the damage at $150.

On Aug. 3, nine women ages 19-21 asked police for permission to camp at the Riverside picnic area. The group said they were paddling on the Androscoggin for several days and could not find another place to camp for the night. Officer James Merrill agreed to patrol the picnic area throughout the night.

In other police news last week, on July 31, police replaced traffic cones on the Route 2 overpass several times during the night. Motorists were knocking down the cones.

On Aug. 1 a Quebec woman reported losing power steering and control of her vehicle east of the Bethel village. The vehicle jumped the curb and came to rest in a ditch. It was towed from the scene. No one was injured in the accident.

Later in the day, David Mason reported downed power lines on Bridge Street. Central Maine Power was called to the scene as the Bethel Fire Department stood by.

On Aug. 4, while on patrol, Officer Merrill came upon a car stalled at the intersection of Route 26 and Cross Street. The owner of the vehicle said it stalled after going through a large puddle. Merrill and several others pushed the car out of the intersection and into the SAD #44 bus garage parking lot.

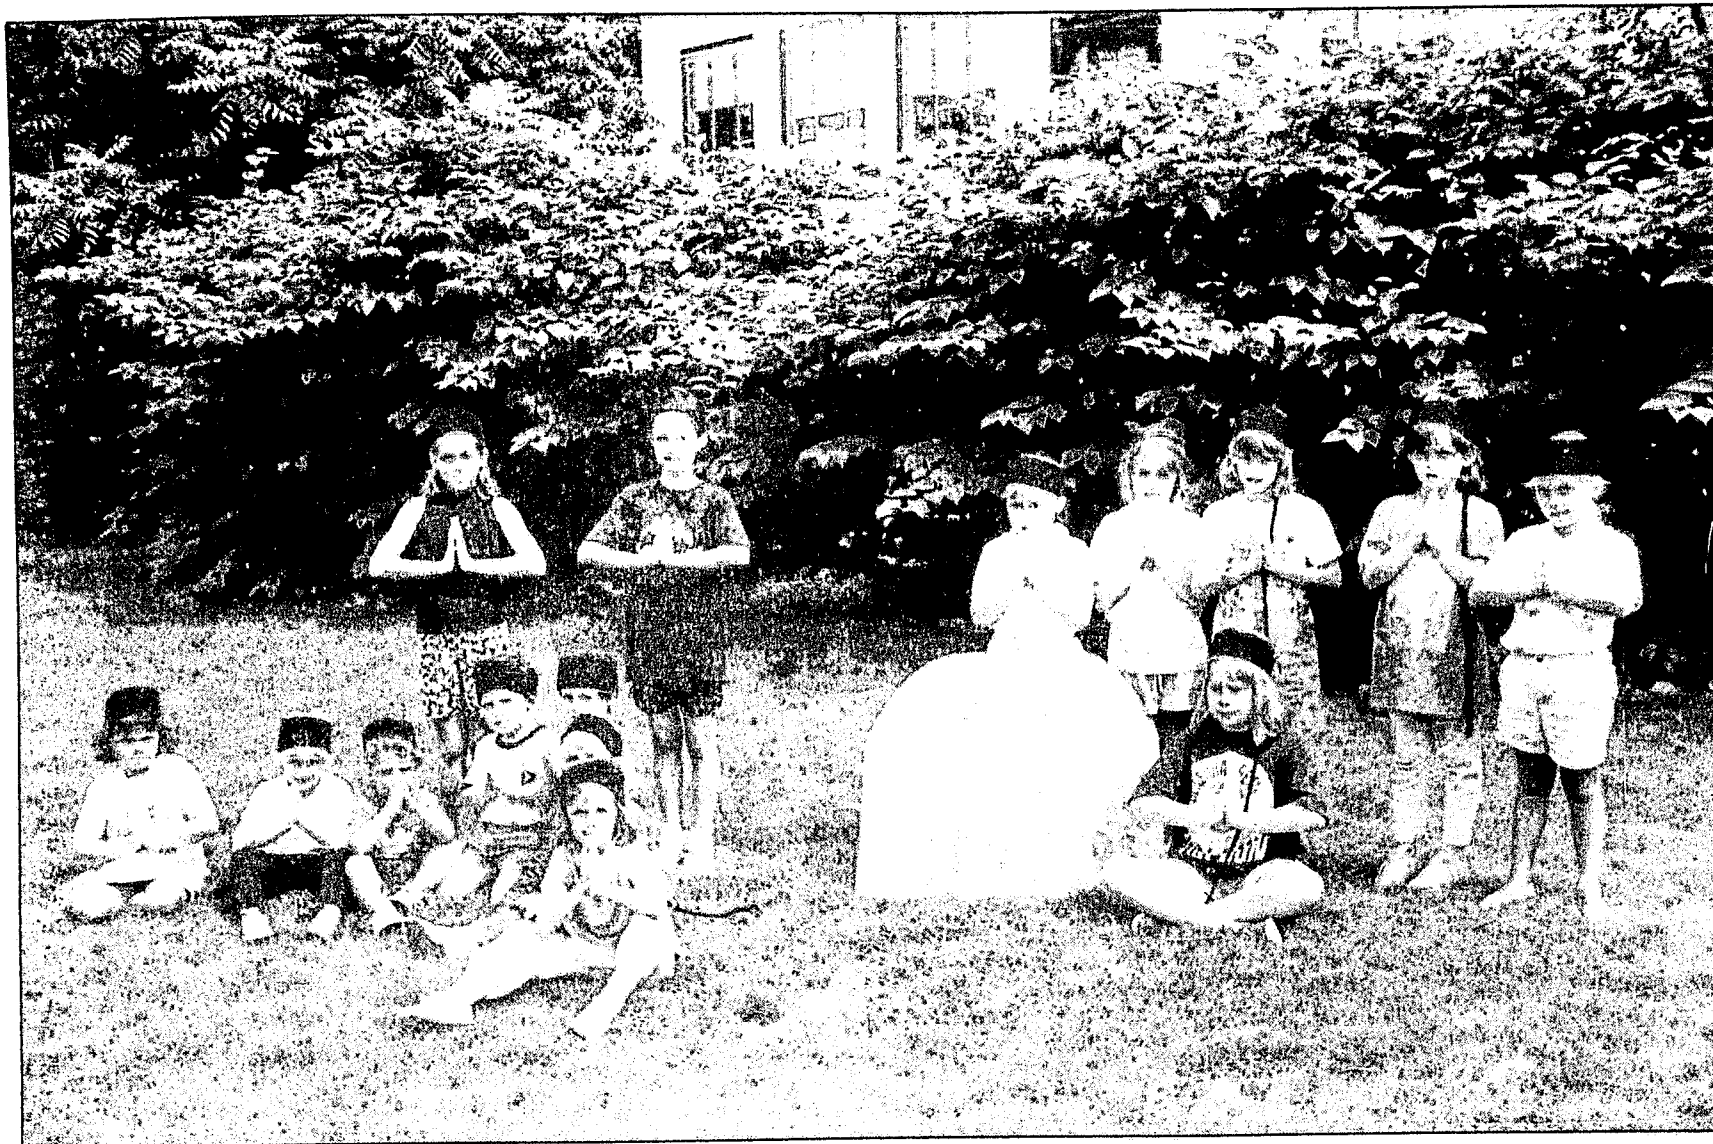

Later on his shift, Merrill called the Bethel road crew to remove a downed tree from the Grover Hill Road.

On Aug. 6, Officer Darren Tripp heard the Oxford County Sheriff's Office called to a domestic assault on the Sunday River Road. Tripp headed toward the call and encountered a van along the way registered to the caller's husband. Tripp held the suspect until an OCSO deputy arrived to arrest him.

Late Friday night, Aug. 7, Harry Faulkner reported three to five subjects fighting in the Backstage Restaurant parking lot. When police arrived the subjects were gone.

Saturday morning, several Rabbit Road neighbors reported hearing an ATV riding through the area at 3 a.m. Police interviewed the complainants and asked them to call if they heard the ATV in the area again.

A MIDSUMMER DAY'S PLAY--The Bethel Library summer theater last week presented "Five Chinese Sisters"--adapted from "Five Chinese Brothers." Among the cast were: sitting, Kate Caddigan, left, Laura Pivin, Parker Hanson, Bill Marshall, Travis Brooks, Andrew Raymond, Ashley Brooks and Sarah Marshall. Standing: Riley Hanson, Emily Parsons, Chelsea Marshall, Sarah Paige, Lauren Hart, Lauren Hanson and Caroline Raymond. Summer theater is part of a summer-long series of events planned for area children. School children were asked to read 20 books over summer vacation as part of the summer reading program. More than 70 children are reading library books. The reading program ends Aug. 24. All first-graders through fifth-graders will go to Smiling Hill Farm in Westbrook. Parents and children should bring their completed forms into the library and pick up a permission slip for the field trip. Preschoolers and this fall's kindergarteners will have a party at the library.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the 50 state fish and wildlife agencies and private organizations and businesses, such as L.L. Bean, have all played important roles in the effort to sustain wildlife. But even greater achievements are possible if these efforts are made in concert with one another.

Partnerships in fish and wildlife conservation, such as the North American Wetlands Conservation Act, which I authored, have proven to be remarkably successful. In its first two years, that law has stimulated over 200 partnerships resulting in $142 million to conserve more than 600,000 wetland acres.

The Partnerships for Wildlife Act seeks to forge similar cooperative efforts to conserve neglected species of fish and wildlife and to provide greater opportunities for the public to enjoy these resources. It would provide $6.25 million in federal funds that would be matched dollar for dollar by private funds raised by the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation.

Under the Partnerships for Wildlife Act, up to $500,000 of the federal-private matching funds will be available to state fish and wildlife agencies. These state agencies will use the money to inventory and monitor fish and wildlife species and their habitats. The information gathered will be used to identify potential threats to these species and their habitats, and to provide opportunities for the public to view, learn about, and otherwise enjoy fish and wildlife.

In Maine, the combined funding will benefit wildlife such as the box turtle and roseate tern, which have been designated as endangered and threatened, respectively, under state law, but not under the federal Endangered Species Act.

There are many important economic, recreational, and educational reasons to encourage wildlife conservation and appreciation projects through federal-private-state partnerships. I believe that one of the key reasons is that an abundant, diverse and healthy supply of fish and wildlife helps to improve the quality of life for the American people. I will continue to work with my colleagues in the Senate to pass the Partnerships for Wildlife Act.

businessmen and women. The GAO listed only 26 contractors responsible for 80 percent of the overpriced contracts last year.

But while the number of firms involved may be small, the GAO reports that some of these contractors are repeat offenders. This is a clear indication that the Pentagon is not adequately identifying, auditing and tracking these high risk contractors.

Naturally, honest pricing errors occur in some cases. But in many cases inaccurate and misleading data is deliberately presented to the DOD so the contractor can increase his or her profits. Whether the cause is mistake or fraud, the result is the same--taxpayers lose hundreds of millions of dollars every year.

We on the Governmental Affairs committee want to know why DOD has not effectively cracked down on these fraudulent contractors and why it is not being more responsible in how it spends the taxpayers' money.

Defective contract pricing can be stopped if the Pentagon takes stronger measures to monitor contractors and penalize those who try to cheat the public. Contractors must know that dishonesty will cost them. If the government identifies a pattern of fraud with a particular contractor, the contractor should be prosecuted on criminal charges.

Both GAO and DOD recognize the underlying problems that cause these abuses, and they agree that aggressive action must be taken. I intend to do all I can to pressure the DOD to stop this excessive and unnecessary waste of taxpayer dollars.

poised to play an important role in addressing the region's environmental problems. However, new and emerging organizations need help developing the skills and infrastructure to be effective advocates for environmental protection. Long isolated from their counterparts in other countries, Central European environmental professionals need opportunities to exchange information, study protection programs elsewhere and explore institutional questions of NGO management.

To address these needs, the Atlantic Center has launched a project to provide training, professional development and technical assistance to Central European NGOs. In addition to the summer fellowship program, the Atlantic Center will sponsor six technical assistance assignments during 1992, aimed at linking conservation organizations in New England with those in Central Europe and enabling conservation professionals from both regions to share their expertise.

In October the Atlantic Center, in cooperation with the Independent Ecological Center (Hungary), the Goncol Foundation (Hungary) and the Slovak Union of Nature and Landscape Protectors (CSFR), will conduct a workshop on "Citizen Involvement in River Conservation: the Role of NGOs," to take place in Budapest.

The Central European Environmental NGO Project is being supported during 1992 by the United States Information Agency (through its Citizens Network Initiative), the German Marshall Fund of the United States, the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, and the Environmental Partnership for Central Europe. Additional support for the Bethel case study is provided by the Bingham Betterment Fund through the Atlantic Center's river program.

The Atlantic Center for the Environment is part of the Quebec-Labrador Foundation, Inc., a private, not-for-profit organization whose mission is to improve the quality of life and environment in rural communities of eastern Canada and northern New England. The Atlantic Center promotes natural resource conservation and leadership development in this region and other regions of the world, through a broad array of education, research, training and technical programs.

Canoe trip for middle schoolers

The Bethel Recreation Board will be offering a day canoe trip for Middle School age children on Thursday, Aug. 27.

Wild River Adventures of Bethel will be organizing the event. A $5 registration fee will be collected at the time of registration. Participants will leave at 9 a.m. from the Telstar parking lot. The trip will be on the Androscoggin River. Canoes will be put in the river in Gilead and taken out at River Bend Rest Area on Route 2.

Students will need to bring a picnic lunch as a stop will be made. The trip will conclude at 3 p.m. at the Telstar Parking Lot. Transportation is provided, as well as canoes, life jackets, and paddles.

Limited space is available. Sign up and permission slips should be filled out at the Bethel Town Office by Tuesday, Aug. 25. Rain date: Friday, Aug. 28. For more information, call Wild River Adventures at 824-2608.

Telstar ITV is expanding

The University of Maine Interactive Television Site at Telstar High School is gearing up for a major expansion this fall, with the addition of a third channel and a total of 54 course offerings.

Students enrolled in classes at the Telstar site participate in live classes taught by instructors on a university campus using a one-way video, two-way audio system. All classes are taped, which allows students the option of making up missed classes or reviewing classes for exams.

The Telstar site has added a second ITV classroom, according to Director of Adult and Community Education Cathy Newell. The former Copy Center near the main entrance has been converted to a small classroom. ITV students have the use of electronic media services at the Telstar site, allowing them to access the university's library system. The adult education office, which administers the Telstar ITV site, is linked with all campuses and sites via electronic mail.

The university has also provided an IBM computer and printer with a variety of software for use by its students.

Placement testing for the University of Maine at Augusta will be conducted at the Telstar site on Friday, Aug. 14 at 10 a.m. and on Monday, Aug. 31 at 3 p.m. Those wishing to take the placement tests must call 824-2780 or 1-800-696-1103 for an appointment. Student advising is available at Telstar by appointment or at the Rumford/Mexico Center on Congress Street in Rumford.

ITV course guides were mailed throughout the area in July. Copies are available at the Adult Education office at Telstar. Classes start the week of Sept. 7 with registration underway at the present time.

Chips will fly at Dems' fete

A Cow Chip Casino will be featured at a pig roast and picnic to be held on Saturday, Aug. 15 in honor of Democratic congressional candidate Pat McGowan. The event will be held from 3 to 8 p.m. at the Timothy Carter farm in the historic Middle Intervale section of Bethel.

Local legislative candidates will be present, and, with McGowan, will offer brief remarks at 4 p.m. The event will feature musical entertainment coordinated by Don Murphy, a dunking booth, and other entertainment, in addition to a menu of roast pork and lamb, sweet corn fresh from the field, and beverages.

Additional food items will be available for sale. The picnic will occur rain or shine, with tents provided. Those attending are asked to bring lawn chairs. The picnic will be hosted by Tim and Jody Carter, with assistance from the Bethel Democratic Committee, the Oxford County Democratic Committee and People for Rockie Graham.

Advance tickets are $5, children under 5 free, are available from Tim Carter and Paul McGuire in Bethel, Rockie Graham in Newry, Don Murphy in West Bethel, Bruce Bryant in Dixfield, Jeff Burns in Rumford, Ida Luther in Mexico, Jim Wilfong in North Fryeburg, Warren Richardson in Lovell, and Liz Cook and Dennis Gray in Norway. Tickets will also be available at the gate.

Roads delay rescue

Konkright later said that torn up culverts on the Bull Branch Road delayed the rescue effort by at least an hour.

The culverts were ripped up last year by the state Bureau of Public Lands, which said it did not have the money to adequately maintain the road and culverts.

Where the culverts once were, the road is now crossed by ditches and fill piles, and it is impassible even to off-road vehicles.

Local 4-wheel driving enthusiasts were angered by the decision, and predicted it would hamper future rescue and fire fighting efforts.

Konkright agreed. "It's one of my pet peeves since they pulled them out," Konkright said Tuesday.

"I didn't like it then, and I like it even less now. In this kind of incident or a fire we can't get there. I would have liked to have one of those people from Augusta who made that decision hiking with us in the middle of the night to see how they liked it."

BOOSTERS TO BEGIN TRACK FUNDRAISING

The Telstar Athletic Boosters will meet Wednesday, Aug. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Telstar library to discuss plans for the proposed track at Telstar High School.

The group plans to set up several committees including fundraising, grant writing, publicity and a committee to work with SAD #44's Buildings and Grounds Committee.

Anyone interested in the project can attend the meeting or contact Sarah Craig or Cheryl Eliot.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

On July 28 was the day that several of us set out for the water-front, Two Lights; the sun was out and it was delightful.

The roadsides were sweet with flowers; Susans, bright and jaunty and full of summer sun; clover, the warm sweet fragrance of summer at its peak. It's a delight to bees and a pleasure to anyone who pauses to look.

Renegade weeds, we call them. They are scorned by man but not by Nature. They still persist and do brighten the roadsides.

When we arrived the first thing we sought was the tide and vastness of water. We parked the car and went to get something for lunch. The place was crowded but there was a ritual of work that was clean and with no wasted movement. Our orders were taken and a number given us. When it was called we went to get our lunch, which was ready in a short time. We ate outside where we could see the water and the people.

The wind came up and the sun dodged under a cloud, so we snuggled in to our sweaters.

At that time there was just one gull in sight. It was perched at the top of a light. Mary named it, King. There on its throne it viewed all that was going on.

Later in the day, we saw another sweep down, fill his bill with lunch from a little boy's plate. The little fellow was so surprised that he didn't know what to do. His father came to the rescue but the gull flew away. Mary was so amused that she laughed aloud. I joined her even though I felt sorry for the little one. No harm was done.

The sun came out again and we could hear the waves washing against the rocks. The rocks here are very different from anywhere else on the coast. They look so much like seasoned logs and wood.

This beach is good for rock climbing but not for swimming. After leaving this section we visited the state park for a short time. The flowers, trees, roses and trails were beautiful and we wished that we had more time.

There were sailboats in the distance.

The sun was slipping toward the steeper hills as we drove toward home. We enjoyed the beauty of many things: the lakes, ponds, hayfields and gardens. I noticed the slight upward flick of grass, as the wind changed. At times flat gray clouds across the sky closed overhead but not to last.

The trip home seemed shorter. Soon our quiet pond came into view and of course the mountains. As we approached them they gained stature. No mountain stands alone and isolated in time and place. In their place man is inconsequential.

We had seen the matchless beauty of more of our state. There was an intimacy and charm. The sky leaned down softly, the road curved and the hillsides rose gently.

Home again. Dusk deepened and soon night was upon us. It had been a lovely day.

The work next door is progressing very well, now. The well is dug and in, the house is rising.

Rena Curtis and several of the family camped in Farmington over the weekend then attended a family reunion.

Sally and Mary have been to visit Fay and me this week.

I am spending today, the 30th with my cousin, Lettie Brooks.

The auction will be held at the parking lot of the Grange Hall. Members are asked to bring articles to the hall on Thursday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. All donations are welcome.

The 140th Anniversary will be observed at the Universalist Church of Bryant Pond on Sunday, Aug. 16 at 2 p.m. Former ministers of the church will have part in the service. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Franklin Grange #124 will observe "Music and Talent" night on Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. This is Open House and the public is invited to attend. So come one, come all and join the fun.

Franklin Grange #124 met on Monday, Aug. 3 for Youth and Jr. Night in charge of Joyce Hoyt. As the Grange is lacking in youth, "older younger people" filled the offices: master, Gordon Gartley; overseer, Charlotte Cole; lecturer, Joyce Hoyt; steward, Russell Yates; A.S., Clyde Harvel; L.A.S., Gwen Harvel; chaplain, Althea Tucker; cere, Lucy Robbins; Pomona, Florence Gustafson, Ilora, Clara Gartley; gatekeeper, Carl Brooks; secretary, Wilma Day; treasurer, Lettie Brooks; C.W.A., Alice Hoyt, Bertha Benoit, Verna Swan; ex. comm., Lucy Ridley; pianist, Dot Canwell. Cards were sent to ill members. The program was as follows: Clyde Harvel sang while Dot Canwell played the piano; Gordon Gartley played the saxophone with Dot accompanying him; Bertha Benoit sang with Althea Fish playing the piano; Harry Boyer sang with Dot playing the piano; Joyce Hoyt read her part in the Granges Anniversary reading; 41 people were present; closing thought was by Peggy Blake. Happy Birthday was sung to all with birthdays in August. Next meeting will be "Music and Talent" night on Aug. 17.

The new exhibit at the historical museum is about glass. A history of glassmaking is included along with appropriate examples. The Society has a large collection of all types of glass. Ray Burnham and Francis Brooks have been working on some combination tables and shelves for the historical museum. Francis and Glennis Brooks gave some items to the Society. Ray took in some money for things he sold. Larry Billings checked on progress. Hopefully these shelves can be used for donations in the future as the ones built earlier were filled up so fast. Francis and Glennis Brooks have donated a collection of miniatures to the historical museum. Ray Burnham has done much work there. Don't forget to see the glass exhibit curator Larry Billings set up. Many people have been in, and revenues have been good despite the bad economy. Thanks to all who have watched the museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway were Sunday dinner guests of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Estes.

Jonathan Early played ball on the Woodstock Bambino team, but was not present when the photo was taken for publication in The Citizen.

Graveside services were held Aug. 5 at Sunday River Cemetery for Mary Kendall who passed away at age 92 in Las Cruces, New Mexico where she had been living with her daughter since her husband died in Newry in the 1950's when he was a town selectman. She was born Aug. 5, 1895 in Barre, Vt. A religious ceremony was performed at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Cathedral for her in Las Cruces. Her remains were cremated. The graveside services here in Sunday River brought old memories to her few old friends of the Kendall family. May she rest in peace. Amen.

Rena Powers is back home by now and doing great.

By GIL SEELEY

The Newry Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary hosted a family potluck supper Tuesday, Aug. 4 at the Grange Hall with about 35 people attending including the children. It was a fun affair with the parents keeping up the noise and activities with their kids. "Who says there are no family values?"

Mrs. Eva Robinson and her son, Jim (my cousin) from Biddeford dropped in for a visit Sunday, Aug. 2. I hadn't seen them for quite a while, a few years at least and was very glad to find out how they were. Eva is in her eighties and not very well. My niece Theresa Toti from Harrisville and Marge Wheeler from Woonsocket, R.I. are spending a couple of weeks at Biddeford Pool and will see them often.

The Newry Community Church Ladies Circle met at Louise Tetley's residence Monday, Aug. 3 at noon with Sylvia Wright presiding. There were only three members present, no special business was done, only that they decided to give Rena Powers (a member) who was in the hospital at the time, a gift and get well wishes.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley and Oliver Anderson of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were in Rumford doing some bowling for fun. Of the "lefties" Karlene was high on the singles; with one string of 110, and also high on the triples with a score of 302. Of the "righties", Olive was high on the singles and also high on the average. Betsy had one strike and one spare; Karlene had six spares. Gil had one strike and three spares. Olive had one spare, and Louise one spare.

Aaron Bachelder and his family from Mars Hill were recent guests of his parents, Karlene and Kas Bachelder, here in North Newry. While here Karlene tripped and fell down getting herself a black eye, a sore leg and a possible fracture of her left hand. She had to be taken to the Norway Hospital for x-rays, as the Bethel Area Health Center could not take care of her, no one knew how to use the x-ray machine, etc.???

Graveside services were held Aug. 5 at Sunday River Cemetery for Mary Kendall who passed away at age 92 in Las Cruces, New Mexico where she had been living with her daughter since her husband died in Newry in the 1950's when he was a town selectman. Larry Billings has given the Historical Museum a collection of classics as his academic background is in literature. He hopes perhaps someone will appreciate them.

Shird Lakeway of Eliot, Maine gave the Society an early deed to Birchmere. Annie Crockett brought it to the Museum one day when she was there. Thanks to all.

Some of the men in the Historical Society have been doing work at the Museum.

Everyone is busy in summer, but do find time for a worthwhile organization like the Historical Society.

The Historical Museum now has a special exhibit of glass along with information on glass making.

The Oxford County Republicans will be meeting at the Fryeburg Fairgrounds on Tuesday, Aug. 11 for 6 p.m. social hour and 7 p.m. supper with meeting following. This is Candidates night and the speaker will be Peter Hastings and will speak about Workers Comp problems.

North Paris

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

Friday, July 24, Dora Dingley and Mary Smith and I went to the flea market and food sale at Locke Mills. The dinner was delicious and a very good crowd. That evening Lois Ellingwood, Norma Reidy and I went to the Vaudeville Show put on by the West Paris Historical Society at the Odd Fellows Hall. What a crowd and the show was just great. The "Old Parisians" came and played several numbers, a lot of toe tapping.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy have had as guests, their daughter, Laurie Sideman and son Joel, and daughter Rochelle, also grandson Chris Spencer and John Salome of the U.S. Marines. He was in the Saudi Arabia War. Her mother Pearl Clough from Deltona Fla. Norma took her mother to her sons motel at Twin Mountains for a few weeks stay.

Saturday, July 25, we had a full house at our strawberry shortcake supper.

Sunday, July 26 I spent an enjoyable day at Norman and Jeanne Millets camp. A delicious dinner, others there were Brenda LaCroix, Mr. and Mrs. James Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heath, Jr., Amanda and Jeremy, Jason Thayer. On the way home I called on Richard and Barbara Felt.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Sr. spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Valcher and his sister, Fannie Whitten. Fannie was a great help at our supper.

Ian Isley has the chicken pox. Tuesday, July 28, I got Jason Thayer. He spent the night and I took him home Wednesday evening. We went different places.

Saturday, Aug. 8, there was a dance at West Paris Grange with Richard Felts Band.

I miss Russell Yates' column. Callers here have been Joe Kalinowski, Sharon Silver, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card.

Monday, Aug. 17 Franklin Grange #124 Bryant Pond will observe music and talent night open house meeting and the public is invited to come and enjoy the fun. It begins at 7:30 p.m.

Monday, Aug. 3 Sharon Silver drove me to Dr. O'Connors in Auburn. We had lunch at Edward's Restaurant.

Monday Mr. and Mrs. Joe Valcher took his sister, Fannie Whitten back to Massachusetts after a couple weeks visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oja have been visiting in Massachusetts.

Wednesday, Aug. 5 Sherry Thayer brought Jason for the day and he spent the night then he visited great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Coffin on Thursday. I got Dora Dingley and Mary Smith and we went to Woodstock Senior Citizens delicious dinner and meeting. There was a good crowd. Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway showed us about the birds they make.

Thursday, Aug. 6 Mildred Anderson of Newington, Conn. and her brother Arthur Lundberg, West Hartford, Ct. came to visit Joe Kalinowski at "Big Rock" farm. Other visitors have been Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sheer, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Mione and Carroll Record, Kevin Waterhouse, Doris Lawrence, and Ken Scribner.

My callers have been Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce, Sherry Thayer and Jason, Joe Kalinowski, Mildred Anderson, Art Lundberg, and Sharon Silver.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Slattery, Mrs. Reginald Ford and Mrs. William O'Connor.

Tuesday, Aug. 3 twelve West Paris Senior Citizens went to Brunswick and toured the Scofield House and Joshua Chamberlain's place and ate at Captain Knights Restaurant.

FINNISH BAKE SALE

Finnish breads and coffee braids will be featured at a bake sale on Aug. 14, starting at 9 a.m. at the Finnish American Heritage Center in West Paris. Browsers will also enjoy searching for bargains at the rummage tables.

WILHELM REICH MUSEUM TO HOLD FLEA MARKET

New and used, antique and vintage, everything from cabbage patch dolls, to bowling balls, clothes, jewelry, books, records, stereos, televisions, furniture, housewares, china, children's toys, sleds, and much more will all be on sale at the Aug. 15 flea market at the Wilhelm Reich Museum conference building on the Dodge Pond Road in Rangeley.

The flea market will begin at 9 a.m. and continue throughout the day. Hot dogs and hamburgers, cold drinks and home baked goods will also be available.

The Reich Museum and nature trails will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

FIELD HOCKEY PRACTICE

The Telstar High School Rebel field hockey team will begin practice Monday, Aug. 17 at 5:30 to prepare for its first competition, on Saturday, Aug. 22.

The two hour practices will emphasize running, basic skills and team building.

The Central Maine Field Hockey Playday will be held at Messalonskee High School. Game times will run between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. that day. The Rebels will compete against Jay, Morse, Mt. Blue, and Winslow. The main objective of the day is to assist in rating new officials and readying teams for the season.

BLUEBERRY FESTIVAL

The Locke Mills Union Church will hold its ninth annual Blueberry Festival on Saturday, Aug. 15 at the church. The sale will begin at 10 a.m.

The items available will be blueberry pancakes, blueberry pies, quarts of fresh blueberries, hot dogs, beverages, white elephant table, SERRU items, and fresh baked goodies.

ANY-DEER PERMIT DEADLINE

Saturday is the deadline for hunters to apply for any-deer permits for Maine's 1992 hunting season.

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife says applications from hunters who want to take a deer of either sex must be postmarked by midnight Aug. 15 to be in the drawing. The department's Augusta office will be open until 5 p.m. on the deadline day, a Saturday, to receive applications delivered in person.

The department has urged anyone who received a permit application in the mail to use that one. Application forms are also available from hunting and fishing license agents or from any department office.

The department will issue about 49,600 permits this year. Winners will be determined in a computer drawing late in September. Hunters without a permit are limited to hunting adult bucks.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN UNITED

The monthly meeting of the Christian Women United will be held at The Country Way Restaurant in South Paris on Aug. 18. The meal will be served at 11:30.

The speaker for the day will be Melissa Strout, a missionary to Argentina.

Those who would like a reservation tion and have not been contacted may call Leora Whitney, 743-7221, or call Pearl Anderson, 743-5724 by Friday, Aug. 14.

BIRD WATCHING CANOE TRIP

Sunday, Aug. 16, at 6 a.m. the Friends of the Androscoggin will gather at Newt's Landing in West Bethel for a birdwatching paddle. Marcel Polak, executive director of the Mahoosuc Land Trust, and a bird enthusiast, will instruct participants. A special feature of this trip will be a tour of Kendall Island, which is managed by the Mahoosuc Land Trust.

For more information about Friends happenings call 824-2410 or 824-2808.

AFTER FIVE CLUB

The Dress Barn will present a fashion show on Aug. 18 at the Western Maine After 5 Club. Featured will be fall fashions, with club models.

Cathy Hoy will be soloist. Inspirational speaker will be Alison Towle, a grandmother of six.

The evening will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a chicken stir fry dinner. Price is $7.50. Reservations are necessary and can be made with Kathy Jo at 836-2725, Ellen at 647-8138 or Judy at 539-8816.

Med Barton is CMTC instructor

Medford Barton of Locke Mills has been named instructor in the Ford ASSET program at Central Maine Technical College.

The program is a partnership between Ford Motor Co. and the Auburn college through which 24 students will take courses leading to an associate of applied sciences degree in automotive technology while gaining on-the-job experience in Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealerships in Maine.

Barton holds a bachelor's degree from Rutgers University in New Jersey. He has worked as an automotive technician in Maine and New Jersey for over 20 years. As an Oldsmobile master technician at Viking Motors in Norway, he was named one of the top 200 technicians in the country for two consecutive years.

His teaching background includes experience at Viking Motors, where he initiated an in-house training program for technicians. He also began his career in Maine as an instructor in backpacking and ecology skills at East/West Wilderness in Locke Mills.

"I've enjoyed working with Carl (Hinkley, a CMTC instructor with whom Barton taught as a volunteer) and teaching at the dealership. I think that good teaching makes for better fundamental skills," said Barton. "I'm looking forward to teaching full-time in the ASSET program."

Barton is no stranger to the CMTC: in addition to his term as a volunteer instructor at the college, he is the father of a 1991 graduate of the college's electromechanical technology program.

NEWRY LAWN ORNAMENT—This blue heron abandoned its search for frogs in the near-by Bear River Sunday to pick a few worms off some Newry lawns. The bird seemed unruffled by neighborhood barking dogs, noisy children trying to get a closer look and a photographer chasing him around in the rain.

DELWIN C. WILSON SR.

Delwin C. Wilson Sr., 80, of South Woodstock, died Saturday, Aug. 8, 1992 at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

He was born in Woodstock on May 25, 1912, the son of Clifton R. and Linnie E. Hayden Wilson. He attended Perkins Valley School in South Woodstock and Pine Tree Academy in Auburn. Mr. Wilson worked as a woodsman most of his life. He lived in South Woodstock most of his life and was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. He married Burna Hinkley on June 25, 1939.

Mr. Wilson is survived by six sons, Leroy Wilson of Norway, Durwood Wilson of Oxford, Delwin Wilson Jr. of South Woodstock, Warren Wilson of Greenville, Alan Wilson of West Paris and Alton Wilson of Fryeburg; two daughters, Linnie Roberts of West Paris and Faye Taylor of Bryant Pond; four brothers, Everett Wilson of Winter Park, Fla., Raymond Wilson of Bryant Pond, Leland Wilson of Riverside, Calif., and Harold Knox of Ashburnham, Mass.; one sister, Eda Waterhouse of Bryant Pond; 27 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. He was predeceased by two brothers, Myrle Wilson of West Peru and Miles Knox of Decatur, Ga.

Funeral were held Tuesday, Aug. 11 at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, South Woodstock, with pastor Jack Baker officiating. Interment was at Tueltown Cemetery, West Paris. Those who wish may make donations in his memory to the Forestdale School, c/o Mary Ellen Hadley, RFD, West Paris, Me., 04289.

REGINALD W. FORD

Reginald W. Ford, Sr., 85, of Norway, died Tuesday, Aug. 4, 1992 at Parkview Memorial Hospital.

He was born in Hartford, June 16, 1907, the son of Madison and Minnie Thompson Ford. He attended Hartford and Sumner area schools. He was employed as a truck driver by Bay State Ice Cream Co. for 19 years and later supervised drivers. He then worked for L.L. Bean Inc. in Freeport and also worked part-time at Androscoggin Lift in Freeport.

Mr. Ford was a member of the First Baptist Church of Freeport and the Hartford Historical Society. From 1941 to 1952 he lived in Abington, Mass., before moving to Lewiston. He then lived in Norway for 13 years, coming from Freeport. On Nov. 20, 1941, he married Hazel Salls.

Besides his wife of 50 years, he is survived by one son, Reginald Ford, Jr. of Freeport; a daughter, Sara Ford Carrier of Poland; two brothers, Norman Ford of West Bethel and Harold Ford of Fort Fairfield; and four grandchildren. He was predeceased by a sister, Hazel Ford Field.

NEW PASTOR--The Calvary Congregational Church at South Andover has a new pastor. Pastor Duane Waite, wife Joan and son Seath will fill the pastorate at the church on Aug. 23. Pastor Waite is a graduate of New Brunswick Bible Institute. He has served over 25 years in churches in northern Maine under Village Missions. The Waite's also have four grown children.

Funeral services were held Friday, Aug. 7, at 1 p.m. at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church, Rt. 26 with Rev. John Dunn officiating. There were no visiting hours. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in his memory to the American Heart Assoc. Maine Affiliate, Inc. Box 346, 20 Winter Street, Augusta, Maine 04330. Arrangements under the direction of the Andrews Funeral Home of So. Woodstock.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks to those who sent flowers, cards, remembered us in their prayers and helped in so many kind ways. Also a thank you for the donations to Andover Rescue and the Heart Fund.

The family of
Dora Morton

CARD OF THANKS

To everyone who sent cards, flowers, visited me, made a phone call, said a prayer or helped in any way while I was hospitalized and since I arrived home. To the wonderful doctors, nurses and personnel at Stephens Memorial Hospital and Maine Medical Center, especially to Dr. Harbage, Denise Beckett and Dr. David Boyer who rode with me in the ambulance to Portland, but most of all to my loving and loyal family who were with me every minute.

Bless you all

Nicotine Skin Patches Help Smokers Quit

Until recently nicotine gum was the only method of nicotine replacement therapy approved in the United States. Nicotine gum has been helpful in smoking cessation for many individuals. However, many people quit chewing the gum prematurely, or they do not use the correct chewing technique.

Much of the interest in the nicotine skin patch, follows recent findings by various research groups. According to a recent issue of American Family Physician, the results of 10 different studies are encouraging. In nine of the studies a nicotine skin patch was more effective than a placebo (blank) patch in helping people quit smoking. In all ten studies the rate at which people were able to stop smoking was approximately twice the rate for smokers who received the placebo. The amount of nicotine delivered was roughly one-half of the amount normally obtained from cigarette smoke.

Nicotine skin patches available now or scheduled to come out soon include Habitrol™, Prostep™, Nicoderm™, and Nicotrol-16™. The patches are applied to a dry, non-hairy part of the body, such as the stomach or upper arm. They deliver nicotine continuously over a 24 hour period. Nicotine patches should not be worn by women who are pregnant, unless directed to do so by their physicians.

Births

Robert A. and Cheryl A. Morin of Andover are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby boy, Robert Matthew Morin, born on July 25, 1992 at Stephens Memorial Hospital, weighing 9 lbs. 9 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Philip and Jo-Anne Tapley of Westbrook.

Paternal grandparents are Juliette Morin and the late Antoine Morin of Gilad.

Bobby joins two sisters Jennifer, age 9, and Jessica, age 5.

Vicky Flanders and James Kimball of North Waterford are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby girl, Mariah Ellen Kimball, born on July 30 at 4:45 p.m. at Stephens Memorial Hospital, weighing 7 lbs 2 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Ellen and Lou Bernier and the late Frank Flanders of North Waterford. Paternal grandparents are Paul and Charlotte Kimball of Locke Mills.

David and Kaye Moren of Columbia, N.H. are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby boy, Jeremy David Moren, born June 11 at the Weeks Memorial Hospital in Lancaster, N.H. weighing 8 lbs 15 oz.

Maternal grandparents are Bill and Beverly Swan and great-grandmother Minnie Akers, all of Andover. Paternal grandmother is Jean Gould of Norway.

Jeremy joins a sister, Erica, age 2 1/2.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our deepest gratitude to our many friends and relatives for their expressions of sympathy at the passing of our beloved mother, Nancy B. Lord. For the flowers, many cards and comforting words, we are deeply grateful.

At the same time we want to express our appreciation to the Andrews Funeral Home for their fine service. Also to the Directors and Staff of the Ledgewood Nursing Home as well as Dr. Harbage for the excellent, superb medical care during her three and a half year stay there. It couldn't have been better! Thank you all very much. May God bless you.

AIDS GROUP MEETS

On Saturday, Aug. 1, the Community AIDS Awareness Program of the Rumford area hosted the representatives of the Maine AIDS Alliance (MAA). Community programs and areas served are as follows: Androscoggin Valley AIDS Coalition, Auburn; ACT-UP, Central Maine; AIDS Coalition for Lincoln County, Damariscotta; People with AIDS Coalition, Portland; Oxford Hills Community AIDS Network, South Paris; Waldo-Knox AIDS Coalition, Belfast; Community Task Force on AIDS Education, Bridgton; The AIDS Project, Portland; Merrymeeting AIDS Support Service, Brunswick; Down East AIDS Network, Ellsworth; Dayspring, Augusta; UMF Gay and Straight Peoples Political Alliance, Farmington; and CAAP, Rumford.

As a result of increased needs, the 22 representatives discussed at length the issues of policy, finances, and legislative support. It was noted that there is an increase in the number of community programs, a rise in requests for HIV testing, and for the care of an expanded AIDS population in Maine.

There was also an exchange of information concerning the various communities approaches to the Maine AIDS Walk-92, to be held on Sunday, Oct. 4. In the Rumford area, Walk-92 T-shirts will be sold during the month of September in order to advertise and gain increased support for the annual AIDS Walk. These Hanes T-shirts of 100 percent pre-shrunk cotton will be sold in the Rumford area during the month of September, and a free T-shirt will be given to each person who presents donations totalling $100 at the time of Walk-92 registration. Registration for the Walk-92 will be at the American Legion Hall at noon on Oct. 4.

SITE PLAN COMMITTEE MEMBERS FAIL TO SHOW UP

The eight-person committee revising Bethel's Site Plan Review Ordinance was forced to postpone final consideration of the changes it had proposed last week, when only two members showed up for a scheduled Wednesday evening meeting on Wednesday.

The committee, which has met a dozen times since January to review the ordinance, was expected to approve the changes before submitting its alternate draft to the Bethel Planning Board next week.

Among the committee members missing Wednesday's meeting were Ed Kennett, Dick Chabot, Ginger Kelly, Walter Hatch, Reggie Brown and Francis Dumont.

Lacking a quorum, committee members Rick Whitney and Summer Burgess met briefly with Bethel Planning Assistant Stacy Benjamin, who has helped the group with its review of the ordinance, before adjourning the meeting shortly after 7:30 p.m.

The Site Plan Advisory Committee was appointed by the Bethel Planning Board to review the ordinance, which was adopted in 1987 to regulate commercial and industrial developments and multi-family dwellings.

Revisions to the ordinance, which has been criticized by some who said it was too stringent, must be approved by both the planning board and the selectmen before a public hearing can be scheduled to allow for citizen comment.

FINANCIAL PLANNING FOR WOMEN

This article is brought to you
by Jane D. Gray, CPA

Even though many more women are in the work force today, financial advisors continue to find substantial numbers of women who rely on their husbands to handle the family finances. With estimates that only 51% of these young women will still be married in the year 2025, planners are trying to get women to develop a more independent attitude toward their financial needs.

Seminars are being designed to target working women, widows, and divorcees. Many of these programs provide useful information. However, women (and men) should avoid programs that use emotional appeals to try to get them to buy financial products they don't need, or to make risky investments.

In general, women's financial needs are no different from their male counterparts', and the reasons for investing in a particular product should be the same for both sexes.

At a minimum, a well thought-out financial plan should contain the following elements:

- A clear set of goals, with specific dollar amounts and a plan to reach them. Include both long- and short-term goals, such as buying a home, sending your kids to college, and building a retirement nest egg.

- An examination of your risk tolerance. Some people are more comfortable with risk than are others. You may need to accept more financial risk or change your investment strategy in order to meet your goals.

- A plan to save income tax and estate tax.
- An analysis of your insurance needs, including life, disability, health, property, casualty, and long-term care. Don't overspend on insurance, but be adequately insured.

Contact our office if you need more information about the financial planning process.
